Synopsis: After nearly twenty years as a technology entrepreneur, avid wine hobbyist and wine collector, Rob turned wine entrepreneur. A San Diego resident since 1987, Rob has been chasing his love and fascination of wine since back in college during his short-lived "jug wines" phase. After years of self-study, plus the vast knowledge he's gained through his involvement in a multitude of wine courses, classes, tastings and groups, Rob has taken his passion for wine and developed a 'wine-lifestyle'. And now, as founder of VinVillage.com, a social organization for wine enthusiasts, and VinVillageRadio, a popular talk-radio show focusing on all things about wine and food, and also as the new President of the SF Wine Association, an organization focused on promoting boutique, artisan, limited production wineries, Rob has leveraged his technology background and his immense passion for wine, to make it his profession.
